Burgas Regional Administration affords an opportunity to 8 young people for gaining professional experience being in training at different departments of the Burgas institution. From today on young people who have graduated from institutions of higher education but do not have practice in speciality will assist in the work of the servants taking actively part in servicing citizens, paperwork, preparing statements and reports, participating in different commissions.

“Be brave and don’t be afraid to ask questions. Don’t stop to read, to show interest, use every day to develop yourselves. There are very good experts here and you can definitely learn from them. I believe that the young people who chose the administration will build its new face.” – with these words the Governor Valcho Cholakov welcomed the new trainees to the team.

Very often the employers require both age and experience which is an absolute paradox and restricts the possibilities for realization of the young people. The opportunity to gain experience is one of the aims of the program “Start of Career” to which these young economists and jurists begin their work.
